

Gathering Information: Choosing the Right Method

The purpose of this tool is to help you and your partner discuss what the expected impact of your common goal will look like and then choose the methods best suited to gather this information.

Common Goal:

What will the expected impact look like?

This can be different in each of the classes.

Prompt:

If our students _____,
we will observe... (expected impact)

Is this the same or different in both classes?

What methods will you choose?

This is based on your discussion about what the expected impact will look like.

Prompt:

One of the methods (surveys, rubrics, anecdotal records, interviews...) we will choose to gather information about the expected impact is _____ because...

➔ You may want to add this information to your plan.

Working document

Gathering Information: Choosing the Right Method

What methods will you choose?

This is based on your discussion about what the expected impact will look like.

Prompt:

One of the methods (surveys, rubrics, anecdotal records, interviews...) we will choose to gather information about the expected impact is _____ because...

What methods will you choose?

This is based on your discussion about what the expected impact will look like.

Prompt:

One of the methods (surveys, rubrics, anecdotal records, interviews...) we will choose to gather information about the expected impact is _____ because...

 You may want to add this information to your plan.